Year 1 – Transport

I know the meaning of the words past, present, future.

I know the difference between an old photograph and a new (present day) photograph and I can sort photographs into these categories.

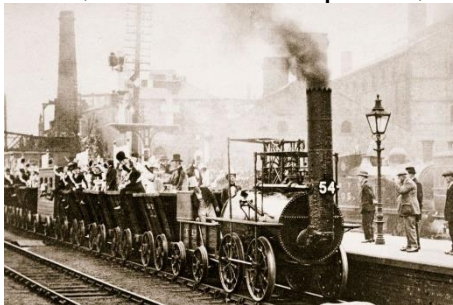

An old photograph might be black and white, have people wearing different clothes to ones we wear today and contain things we don't see anymore. A new photograph might in colour, have people wearing clothes we wear today and contain things we can see today.

I can order four types of cars from past to present (oldest to newest).

I know how George Stephenson's invention (the steam locomotive) changed how people travelled (quicker, travel to more places, carried more people).

I know some future transport ideas (maglev, driverless cars, supersonic cars, space travel).
